

Dear Parishioners

Many of you will have heard the news, announced by the Bishop on Monday, that he has appointed Fr Frank Mulgrew as assistant priest to our parish and Fr Nathan Horne, the priest ordained with Fr Frank, to St Joseph's Heywood. As things stand at the moment Fr Frank's appointment will be for three years after which he will be appointed to a city parish for two years and then having served his 'apprenticeship' he'll qualify to go solo! By that time, of course, a new bishop will have been appointed, so who knows what changes are afoot!

Fr Frank will reside here in Clitheroe but will also be available to help out in the deanery and give some time to St Augustine's school. Otherwise his appointment will not be the occasion for any major changes – except that I'll be able to attend some Sunday morning coffee sessions after the 9.30 Mass and maybe baptisms will move back from 3pm to Sunday mornings. The plans that were announced some weeks ago to train people in the 23 parishes of the deanery to provide a Sunday Eucharistic services to cover any unforeseen emergency will continue. And needless to say, when Fr Frank leaves he will not be replaced by another priest. He will take up his appointment in September.

On the flight back from Rio Pope Francis gave an impromptu press conference an hour and 21 minutes during which he stood the whole time. Here's a taster of what he said.

Cardinals and their life styles. "Everyone has to live in their own way. The cardinals in the Curia, at least the ones I know, don't live like wealthy people. They have fairly modest apartments. But in a general sense, austerity is necessarily for all those who work in the service of the church. There are saints in the Roman Curia, among the cardinals, priests, religious, sisters and laity. They work hard, and also do things that are often hidden. I know some who concern themselves with feeding the poor or who give up their free time to work in a parish. As always, the ones who aren't saints make the most noise - a single tree falling makes a sound, but a whole forest growing doesn't."

Resistance to his planned reforms. "If there's resistance, I haven't seen it. It's true that I haven't done a lot yet, but so far I've found helpful, loyal people. I like it when someone says, 'I don't agree with you,' and I have found that. That's better than those who say, 'That's great, that's great,' but then say the opposite later - maybe people like that are there, but I haven't run into significant resistance."

Enjoy the holidays, Fr John

APF MISSION (RED BOXES) This quarter's Mission Box collection is due to take place shortly. Please could we once again ask for your help. If it is possible could collectors consider sending their donations in the form of a cheque or notes rather than change. Due to the limited time we have available to count and bank the money - when we took the money from the last collection to the bank the change alone came to well over £300 (much of it bags of 1p & 2p), which is far too heavy for one person to carry as you can well imagine. Your help would be very much appreciated
