National Action Plan (outline)

LEADERSHIP

- Senior leaders demonstrate their commitment to addressing Modern Slavery and trafficking
- Modern Slavery has the required governance and oversight, to reassure senior leaders that there is an effective response

INTELLIGENCE

- The local prevalence of Modern Slavery and trafficking understood, assessed and shared.
- Officers understand the key national strategic questions, and as far as practicable use each investigation to help further our understanding of this type of harm.
- NRM and Duty to Notify is embedded, and adequate records of referrals are kept.

VICTIMS

- Effective partnership arrangements are in place to co-ordinate activity, to share information and safeguard victims.
- The threat of Modern Slavery is understood within existing safeguarding frameworks
- Forces understand the local Modern Slavery threat picture and raise awareness within their communities
- A victim-centred approach to Modern Slavery is in place

INVESTIGATIONS

- The initial investigative response to Modern Slavery is effective.
- Modern Slavery is thoroughly investigated and effectively supervised by teams and individuals with the skills and experience to undertake them

TRAINING

- Forces have access to College of Policing accredited learning products on Modern Slavery, in order to raise awareness and capability among all frontline staff.
- College of Policing should work to improve knowledge and expertise in investigators up to senior investigating officer level, drawing on the experiences of all police forces
